New books—and older gems you might have missed.

Every newsletter includes recently released titles and book descriptions, and many have sample chapters and/or tables of contents. They also feature recommendations of older books for fans of a particular author, or lists of books grouped by a theme. For example, the thematic section of Home, Garden, and DIY may focus on “green living” projects. The Kids' Books list may feature juvenile mysteries or crafts in addition to new kids' books. Each newsletter is crafted by librarians and readers' advisory specialists to provide readers with inspiring and interesting reading choices.

Tired of getting to the library—and the book you wanted is checked out?

Because every newsletter includes links directly to the library catalog, you can be at home in your slippers or taking a lunch break at the office while placing holds on the books you want—and then we'll tell you when the books are waiting for you to pick up!

Now that we have your attention ...

Newsletter subscribers will get more than just a list of suggested reading—watch for notices of special events, library programs, and new resources. We know how hard it is to keep up with everything going on in our library, especially if your time is limited. Our newsletters will include useful reminders and tips on getting the most from your library—from databases to children's programs to book sales.

Ask a staff member to show you how to sign up and start receiving great reading suggestions today!
